

Linda Vigilant

Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology
Deutscher Platz 6
Leipzig D04103
Germany

Phone: 49-341-3550-222
Fax: 49-341-3550-299
Email: vigilant@eva.mpg.de

Education:

University of California, Berkeley, California
Genetics, 1986-1990, PhD

Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, New Jersey
Chemical Biology, 1982-1986, B.S. with High Honors

Professional Positions:

Research Scientist, Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, Dept of Primatology. January 1999 to present, permanent appointment. Research area: Genetic analysis of wild primate populations.

Research Associate, Penn State University, Dept. of Anthropology. September 1992 to May 1994; September 1997 to December 1998. Research area: Molecular evolution of human populations.

Postdoctoral fellow, Penn State University, Dept. of Anthropology. September 1990 to August 1992. Research area: Molecular evolution of human populations in Africa.

Graduate student in Genetics Department, Division of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, University of California, Berkeley. September 1986 to August 1990. Research area: human mitochondrial DNA variation and evolution in Africa.

Scholastic Service:

International Journal of Primatology, Editorial board 2003-present.

American Journal of Physical Anthropology, Associate Editor 2006-present.

Primates, Associate Editor 2007-present.